

Culture, Health and Well-being: Creative Commissioning for Better Outcomes

28th April 2016

Grace Murrell Suite, Riviera International Conference Centre

10:00	Registration and refreshments
10.30	Welcome and introduction with Katie Venner, Event Facilitator
10:40	Commissioning arts and culture to deliver health and social outcomes – the national context with Jessica Harris, Cultural Commissioning Programme Manager
10:50	Key note presentation with Debra Laphorne, Centre Director South West, Public Health England
11:10	Cultural commissioning in Torbay: the story so far with Kate Farmery, Executive Director, Torbay Culture Board
11:30	How does what I've just heard resonate with what I do? Facilitated by Katie Venner
11:35	Refreshment break
11:55	What can arts and culture offer? Members of the Torbay Arts and Culture network share their experiences and give you a taste of what they can offer commissioners in the health and local authority sectors.
12:45	Drawing out the learning from the workshop with Katie Venner
13:00	Lunch
14:00	Cultural commissioning in Torbay – case study projects:  Culture on prescription with Justin Wiggin, Torbay Community Development Trust and Ruth Ben-Tovim, Encounters Arts  'Just Ask' men's mental health creative project with Nathalie Palin
14:30	Group discussion Facilitated by Katie Venner
15:15	Feedback
15:35	Reflections on 'Creative Commissioning for Better Outcomes' with Gerry Cadogan, Public Health Principal, Public Health Team, Torbay Council
15:55	Close and opportunity for evaluation

The Cultural Commissioning Programme (www.ncvo.org/CCProg), funded by Arts Council England, works to strengthen relationships between the arts and cultural sector and public service commissioners. It is delivered by a partnership of National Council for Voluntary Organisations (lead), New Economics Foundation and New Philanthropy Capital. This event is being delivered in partnership with the Torbay Culture Board as one of their quarterly forum events.